Treating Wrong Disease.

Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some aterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a cured."

TRAGEDY IN ROOF GARDEN. Seated at a table at the Madison

Square Roof Garden (New York) performance last night Stanford White, a well-known architect and clubman, was shot through the heart without a chance at self-defense. His slayer, who was arrested, was Harry K. Thaw, member of a wealthy Pittsburg family, whose sister, Miss Alice Thaw, was married to the Earl of Yarmouth a few years ago. A deadly fend growing out of their at-tention to the same woman is said to have existed between the two men.

Thaw married Evelyn Nesbit, a chorus girl, despite the protests of his family, more than a year ago. The affairs of the couple at that time were given wide-spread publicity.

Some of those who were at the roofgarden performance last night say that Thaw came up behind White, who was seated at the table, tapped him on the shoulder and shot him before he could

White was a member of the firm of McKim, Mead & White, architects of New York.

It was the opening night for the season of the roof garden. During the second act of the performance, while a comic song was being sung, the audience thrown into consternation by three shots. Immediately afterward it was announced that a murder had been committed and the audience was dismissed.

Harry Kendall Thaw is one of the wealthiest young men of the country, but has been known more for his escapades than for any achievement in the arts and sciences or in business. a son of Mrs. William Thaw, and his mother on becoming reconciled to his marriage to Miss Evelyn Florence Nesbitt, former chorus girl and artist's model, is said to have settled upon him an annual allowance of $80,000. There are alleged to have been two marriages, Mrs. William Thaw having insisted upon a formal ceremony, which took place April 1905, in the Third Presbyterian Church at Pittsburg, and since that time young Mrs. Thaw has become a member of that denomination. Under the tutelage of her mother-in-law she has also endeavored to enter Pittsburg society. The names of young Thaw and Miss

Nesbitt were connected unplesantly as a result of various unconventional acts, notably in November of 1904, when the pair were asked to leave a New York hotel because Mr. Thaw declined to register Miss Nesbitt as his wife. The marrisge of the former model, who had nothing but her beauty and attractive ways, to young Thaw, was the culmination of a romance extending over three years. By his lavishness of expenditures and his devotion to noted beauties in Paris and London, as well as New York, Mr. Thaw had attained

He was much sought after by mothers of marriageable daughters, and the story goes that a French countess was so overcome by grief because her charms and title failed to capture the young man hat she retired from society. Before he met Miss Nesbit four years ago Mr. Thaw gave a dinner in Paris to a score of the famous beauties of Europe, at which he was the only man present. No less than $50,000 was supposed to cover its cost, according to rumors. It was no secret that his family earnestly desired a union which would bring another coronet into the family, but even when his sister Alice married the Earl of Yarmouth the young man proved intract able. He did not approve of that match, and in that respect, as well as in his in-fatuation for Miss Nesbit, he stood out a show girl for a brief time. Mies Nes-bit was one of a party that went abroad in 1904, of which Mr. Thaw was also a member. Dispatches told of the young man's arrest while speeding an automo-bile in Switzerland with his wife. This caused a report that Mr. Thaw and Miss Nesbit were married. Both denied it upon their return to this country on the e steamship in October of 1904.

When young Thaw's father died he left Harry only $2,500 a year, providing, owever, that the son should share in his millions on reaching the age of But the mother and other members of Price Clothier and the family came to the rescue and by making up an annuity of $80,000 saved him from penury.
